DECISION AND ORDER

Plaintiffs, New York State Vegetable Growers Association, Inc., and five New York State farms, commenced this case on October 2, 2023. They allege thirteen claims against Defendants, New York State Attorney General Letitia James and three officials from the New York State Public Employment Relations Board.

Plaintiffs claim that the 2020 amendments to the State Employment Relations Act, enacted as part of the Farm Laborers Fair Labor Practices Act, violate the United States Constitution in various ways. See Dkt. 1.

Plaintiffs also moved for a temporary restraining order (“TRO”) and preliminary injunction (“PI”). Dkt. 2. Defendants opposed the PI portion of Plaintiffs’ motion,<sup>1</sup> supported by a memorandum of law and seven declarations and their associated exhibits. Dkt. 35–Dkt. 61. Among those declarations are the declarations of John F. Wirenius (Dkt. 35-1), Mariam Manichaikul (Dkt. 35-2), and Sarah G. Coleman (Dkt. 37). Plaintiffs replied in further support of their PI motion. Dkt. 94. The preliminary injunction hearing is scheduled for February 21, 2024. The parties agreed that the hearing will consist of the written record and oral argument, without any testimony.

Less than two weeks ago, Plaintiffs moved to strike the Wirenius, Manichaikul, and Coleman Declarations. Dkt. 92. Defendants responded (Dkt. 109), and Plaintiffs replied (Dkt. 112).

Plaintiffs ask the Court to strike the Wirenius, Manichaikul, and Coleman Declarations because those documents (1) “improperly raise legal arguments and opinions not based on the declarants’ personal knowledge,” and (2) “include hundreds of pages of citations to legal authority and conclusions of law,” in an “attempt to circumvent the page limits of [Defendants’ opposition to Plaintiffs’ PI motion.]” Dkt. 92-1, at 1–2.<sup>2</sup> Defendants argue that the challenged declarations properly “provide factual and procedural background relevant to Defendants’ opposition to Plaintiffs’ [PI motion]” and distinguish the caselaw Plaintiffs cite. Dkt. 109, at 5. As an alternative to striking the challenged declarations, Defendants ask the Court to disregard any portions of the declarations that it determines violate the governing rules. Id.

The Court is not aware of any authority requiring it to strike the challenged declarations under these circumstances. It is capable of reading the challenged declarations, identifying any portions of those declarations that are improper or lack evidentiary value, and disregarding any such portions. Because the Court can—and will—do so here, striking the challenged declarations is unnecessary.<sup>3</sup>

For these reasons, the Court DENIES Plaintiffs’ motion to strike the Wirenius, Manichaikul, and Coleman Declarations.

SO ORDERED.
